Universidad de Huelva International Week 24th – 27th April 2017

In April 2017 the University of Huelva in Spain will host its 'International Days', an intercultural university-wide event, which will bring together students, lecturers and administrative staff from our International Partner Universities.

The programme of the 'International Week' is diverse and includes lectures, seminars, study abroad fair and other scheduled activities for all participants. The lectures and seminars will be taught by lecturers from our partner institutions on a Staff Teaching Assignment (STA). Visiting Teaching staff, International Office staff and exchange students will host stands at our Study Abroad Fair. Work plans will include a course in Spanish language.

We would like to issue this invitation to all our partners to send Teaching Staff, library and Office administrative staff. Delegates will be expected to pay their own travel and accommodation costs. We hope our partners will understand that we may not be able to accept all applications due to demand. We can accept a maximum of 50 applications for 2017. We will not be able to accept applications sent after our deadline of 15th March and may reach our maximum quota before this date.

Please send initial expressions of interest to drinter@uhu.es.
